

esotericity

Music

David Bagsby is a guitarist, keyboardist and composer.
He has studied under Jazz guitarist Stanley Jordan.
His music encompasses progressive/symphonic rock,
humanly impossible rhythmic hierarchies, translated nature recordings, acoustic guitar works and pieces utilizing perfect tuning systems & Euclidean Space.
His wish is to create music that will allow you to thrash about cerebrally at maximum hormonal amplitude.
His goal is to become the "Rube Goldberg of Rock".

Some selected comments:

"I enjoyed your original take on contemporary progressive music. Keep up the great work"

Ian Anderson (Jethro Tull)

"Nice to know someone is still making interesting music"

Kerry Livgren (Kansas)

"I think he does some great stuff."

Dave Stewart (Bruford/National Health)

"the outer fringe of progressive rock"

Keyboard

"Wonderful, excellent work"

Mike Keneally (Zappa/Steve Vai)

"Bagsby is uncatagorizable, but he is a master at whatever he decides to do."

Gibraltar Encyclopedia of Progressive Rock

"Genius work!"

Patrick Moraz

(Yes/Moody Blues)